ALEXANDER HAMILTON POST #448Sen. Murray vows to be 'top advocate' for veterans

By ROB HOTAKAINEN, McClatchy Newspapers

Sen. Patty Murray has always drawn a distinction between war and the men and women who fight it.

When the Washington state Democrat was one of just 23 senators to vote against launching the Iraq war in 2002, she said she'd support U.S. troops "whenever their commander in chief sends them ... not only during the conflict but afterward."

And as a 22-year-old intern in the summer of 1972, Murray spent her days doing physical rehabilitation on just-returned Vietnam veterans in the psychiatric ward of the Seattle veterans' hospital.

"Then I'd go out in the streets at night and hear the protests," said Murray, the daughter of a disabled World War II veteran who earned a Purple Heart. "I knew what they were protesting, but the imbalance of it all just really struck me."

As the new chairman of the Senate Veterans' Affairs Committee, Murray is making it clear that she's on the side of those who fight the wars.

"No matter what war or what conflict, when they come home," veterans will "have me to be their top advocate in the United States of America," said Murray,

Washington Senator, Patty Murray

the first woman to head the committee.

Murray said she wanted to speed up claims processing and shorten the lines at VA centers. She wants to end homelessness among veterans and help them find jobs. She said she'll be calling on businesses to hire more veterans. And she wants to make sure that the federal government doesn't overlook female veterans, a growing population.

Veterans groups regard Murray, a 60-year-old fourth-term senator, as a particularly close friend on Capitol Hill.

Since she joined the Veterans' Affairs panel in 1995, most veterans groups - including the Disabled American Veterans, Iraq and Afghanistan Veterans of America and the Vietnam Veterans of America - have given her high marks.

Most of them are pleased with her ascension, calling her a savvy, detail-oriented and courageous legislator.

"This is a tremendous fit," said Paul Sullivan, the executive director of the Washington-based Veterans for Common Sense.

Sullivan said that even though Murray wasn't a veteran herself, she had "two very special connections" with veterans: her father and her work experience in Seattle. He said she'd been a leader on many issues: female veterans, returning Iraq and Afghanistan veterans, and psychological trauma and suicide among veterans.

"It's absolutely fantastic," Sullivan said. "She has a personal connection - that's important - and she has subject matter expertise - that's very important, so there won't be a learning curve."

Murray, who replaced Democratic Sen. Daniel Akaka of Hawaii as the committee's chairman, has plenty of fans in her home state, too.

"She's great," said Beau Bergeron, of Steilacoom, Wash., a former head of the Washington State Department of Veterans Affairs. "She's absolutely great. ... She's really difficult to BS, because she understands it. She asks very good questions. I've been in a

Why is That Goose Smiling?

Editorial By Art Mauck, Post Scribe

Comrades, I need your guidance. I'm in a quandary. Over the last few days I've had to deal with losing a job, seeing Veterans fighting with other Veterans, was insulted and threw a few insults myself, and what all of those things have in common is the rejection of blindly following authority.

You've heard it from me, before. I've criticized Bush and Cheney for the series of non-ending failures they produced. I criticized Congressional Republicans for consistently voting against Veteran's rights. I've criticized McCain for providing the enemy with propaganda tapes for preferential treatment and for stifling investigations into POWs/MIAs, and I've even criticized Obama and our National Commander Jimmie Foster for their stances on DADT.

On Wednesday, 9 FEB 11, I attended the trial of some of the Post 911 leadership who had tarnished the American Legion's reputation with their very unLegionnaire-like activities. One of them was expelled from the Legion. Later on, I attended a meeting of the Trustees and the War Memorial Council, where I again witnessed some reprehensible Legionnaire behavior, only to be trumped a bit later in Room 101 with shouting and fighting.

The meeting was run by a Trustee who stated that plans for a computer laboratory and resource center wasn't meeting with his approval and that Veteran's shouldn't expect to get as much room as they want, for the Trustees already have rooms in the building rented out. When questioned about whether the Veteran's War Memorial was a Veteran's building or a For-Profit Room Rental building, I was told that the City couldn't afford to let Veteran's have what they wanted in our own building. When I later expressed displeasure with this Trustee (admittedly calling him a rather insulting name) I was informed he used to be a Major General in the Marine Corps.

My reply was, "SO?" I reminded the other veteran that he no longer had any rank except VETERAN. The American Legion doesn't treat officers and enlisted veterans differently - we are ALL brothers and are all judged as equals. With that equality also comes the ability to criticize when someone is wrong, and this Trustee is WRONG. Doesn't his right to be respected as a Veteran end when he acts against Veteran's interests?

I was then subjected to threats, violence, and bitchy, false accusations - IN MY VERY OWN VETERAN'S BUILDING.

So here's my dilemma... I'm not keen on authority figures when I know they're: stupid, wrong, lying, dangerous, traitorous, or detrimental. I can't stand injustice; that's why I became a cop. I can't stand injustice; that's why I became an involved Veteran, fighting for OTHER veteran's rights...fighting for our building to remain OURS. I'm not sorry for being openly disdainful and disrespectful of those who work against Veteran's interests, whether they are civilian or whether they are Veteran turncoats.

But am I wrong? Should I be a nice little airman and blind myself to what's being pulled? Are we all just supposed to roll over and play nice and let them take our building just because one of the thieves trying to take it from us was a Major General? And do we have to smile really pretty as they take it?

IF SO - then I want all the Republicans to stop criticizing Obama and his policies. I'll stop criticizing authority figures when they do. After all, what's good for the goose is good for the gander - but their goose better be smiling really pretty, too.

Veterans Lose Fight as City Orders Meeting Hall Closed

1992 Story By Tracey Kaplan, Los Angeles Times Staff Writer 2011 Follow Up By Art Mauck, Post 448 Scribe

Santa Clarita veterans fighting the city to save their bar and meeting hall lost a key battle Tuesday but promised that the war is not over.

The Santa Clarita City Council voted 5 to 0 to shut down Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 6885 on Sand Canyon Road, giving the veterans up to a year to relocate the post.

"Santa Clarita has some explaining to do" to Cable News Network, which called it the most patriotic city in the country during the Gulf War, said the veterans' attorney, Bruce A. Nahin.

"From parades to throwing out the veterans," he said. "It's unbelievable."

Nahin said the council's decision is probably invalid because two of the five council members—Jan Heidt and Howard P. (Buck) McKeon—live in the area and belong to the homeowners association seeking the post's ouster. Both Heidt and McKeon voted to close the post.

City Atty. Carl K. Newton said Tuesday that neither council member had a conflict of interest because both live more than half a mile away from the post.

McKeon said in an interview earlier this week that he would have preferred excusing himself from the vote, "but I couldn't see taking the easy way out morally."

"I'm a veteran myself, from the Vietnam era," said Heidt, who was a lieutenant in the Navy for seven years. But unlike the veterans at the post, she said, "I don't feel my neighborhood owes me anything because of it."

I contacted VFW Post 6885, and spoke with a member, Art Darwin, an Air Force veteran who the legal fund by Mr. Cienian, a member in NY. It will be deposited to the legal fund when the CD that contains the fund matures.

The 1st Vice Commander reported on BINGO & the debacle with the altering of the Liquor license & the loss of sales as a result. The Adjutant was asked to send a thank you letter to Gary Kenyon for his help with the bar & the Eagle Tavern for the donated juices. The Judge Advocate is going to send a letter to the War Memorial Board of Trustees about the issues with the bar license.

He also reported on the upcoming event idea for the USS Hornet and the director Beth. A minimum of 15 persons would be required for the event. A private tour would be included. The cost is $22.00 a person including transportation to and from the ship to the ferry dock. The event would be in April. The 3rd Saturday of April is the pre-planned date, which is a week before the BINGO event. He will have all the information at the March officer meeting, potentially Saturday April 16th. The approximate budget of not to exceed $500.00 to cover the costs, not the ferry ride which would be on the individual member, for the event.

The Adjutant then gave the membership report: Post 448 has 244 members, 199 have paid, at 82%. The SAL has 26 members, 17 have paid, at 65%. The Association has 13 members, 4 have paid, at 31%.

We've had about 20% returns from the appeal letter sent out in January. At present the membership status is pretty stagnant, primarily due to the economy. If members served in the Korean conflict. He has been a member since 1984. Although he says that they did not lose any membership, he wasn't sure of the cost of the court fight and the move to their new location, 4 miles away. He did state that it was a hard time for their post, which is still facing zoning issues with the city. Their old location has become a private home.

It is interesting to note that "Buck" McKeon is now the Republican Representative from the 24th District of CA to the U.S. House, and the are having financial difficulties at this time and are unable to pay 2011 dues, please contact the Adjutant at adjutant@post448.org and we will take these difficulties under consideration.

As of 9 February, Post 448 is the 3rd largest post in the district. It should be mentioned that the two "top" posts, membership-wise, are questionable in that Post 456 has 322 members, but only 210 paid, 65% of their goal. Hellenic Post 230 has a goal of 410 members, but only 104 paid, 25% of their goal. There are, however, numerous other posts which have reached 100% or better: Post 244 with 20 members, at 111% and Post 875 at 89 members and stands at 110%.

Correspondence: 21 JAN 11, received a check from Frank Stein for his SAL dues along with an additional $10 donation.

On 22 JAN 11, we received $20 in Association dues from Linda Alband along with a $55 contribution in memory of Bud Robbins. She was thanked for her donation.

The membership is reminded that neither the Adjutant nor the Post Scribe are mind readers. If members want correspondences sent out to someone for their generosity or any other form of thank you or if you want items publicized in the newsletter, you have to give sufficient details, including names, addresses and details of the event so that we can send a letter or post an article or notice in the newsletter. Please also keep the publication date of the newsletter in mind to insure that notices are posted in a timely manner. It doesn't do any good to advertise an event in April in the April newsletter. The deadline for submissions are the Ranking Member of the Armed Services Committee. Jan Heidt went on to become the Mayor of Santa Clarita in 1993 & 1998, and has a Newhall, CA Metrolink Station named after her. "Buck" was Mayor when the town incorporated, and Heidt was one of the first Council members.

I asked Veteran Darwin for advice to other Veteran's groups who are facing eviction from their meeting halls, and he replied, "Stick together and fight as one. Be there for your brothers and sisters."

Does this sound familiar, comrades? Being 25th of each month.

We have one committee member for the Fort Miley "Care Package Project", Paul Bridger. Because of the poor response for committee members, the Project will be postponed until we can get sufficient committee members for a meeting.

It was mentioned at the planning meeting that Post 448 would like to sponsor a show to be given at Fort Miley. Anyone who is interested in organizing and persueing this endeavor, please contact the Adjutant at adjutant@post448.org.

He mentioned two worthy interests of his, the "Cup of Joe for a Joe" program that allows you to "send" any number of $2 cups of coffee in combat areas. To send a cup(s) go to:

<http://www.greenbeanscoffee.com>

Another interest of his is the "Soldier's Angels", that sends a care package to a service member in your name. You can also "adopt" a soldier and send monthly care packages, letters or cards of support. More information can be found at:

<http://soldiersangels.org>

The Adjutant suggested that Post 448 might send a monthly care package to an adopted or random service member. He will inquire and return with more information.

The Women's Commander thanked Post 448 for sponsoring the event last weekend: Native American Sober Veterans, where Robert Potter received an award. She also reminded the Post of the upcoming GAPA (Gay Asian Prevention of Aids) Luau on Sat-told we're asking for "too much"? Being betrayed by fellow veterans? Watching others cash in while they take away our building?

Let's take Veteran Darwin's suggestion to stick together and to fight as one. Let's be there for our brothers and sisters. Let's make sure they don't take our building away in the name of profit and greed.

And still I persist in wondering whether folly must always be our nemesis.

High Court Rules for Phelps Clan

By Advocate.com Editors

"Speech is powerful. It can stir people to action, move them to tears of both joy and sorrow, and — as it did here — inflict great pain..."

The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled that members of the Westboro Baptist Church, infamous for their incendiary antigay demonstrations, are protected under the First Amendment in protesting military funerals.

In an 8-1 ruling issued Wednesday, the court found in Snyder v. Phelps that the church's 2006 protest of the funeral of a soldier who was killed in Iraq did not disrupt the service, and that Westboro "addressed matters of public import on public property, in a peaceful manner, in full compliance with the guidance of local officials."

Albert Snyder, father of the late Lance Cpl. Matthew Snyder, filed suit against the church after it protested his son's funeral, asserting that the deaths of American soldiers in combat is one of myriad examples that God is angry at the

Westboro Baptists Protesting at Military Funeral

United States for its tolerance of homosexuality.

"Speech is powerful. It can stir people to action, move them to tears of both joy and sorrow, and — as it did here — inflict great pain," Chief Justice John Roberts wrote in the majority opinion. "On the facts before us, we cannot react to that pain by punishing the speaker."

But in his dissenting opinion, Justice Samuel Alito wrote, "Our profound national commitment to free and open debate is not a license for the vicious verbal assault that occurred in this case." As such, Alito wrote, "Mr. Snyder wanted what is surely the right of any parent who experiences such an incalculable loss: to bury his son in peace."

Megan Phelps-Roper, a member of the WBC who has helped to raise the church's visibility in recent years via social media and parodies of gay-friendly artists such as Lady Gaga, was jubilant via Twitter of the decision: "HERE YE ALL NATIONS! WBC WINS SCOTUS! 1st AMEND NOT YET DEAD! PRAISE GOD! BOW YOUR KNEE TO HIS POWER & MIGHT! OBEY OR PERISH!"

Sean Summers, the attorney representing Snyder, said of his client: "Obviously, it's not the decision he wanted."

number of meetings where she has caused bureaucrat-sounding folks to get weak in the knees and admit that they were not doing as good a job as they needed to."

Bergeron, who worked extensively with Murray, recalled when the senator called the federal director of the Veterans Affairs Department and "just flat took him to task" when funding was in jeopardy for veterans' facilities in Washington state.

"She's an advocate," he said. "A lot of people say they are and show up at Fourth of July parades or memorial services or wave a flag or whatever, but she is not afraid to get dirty. And she is very sharp, knows a lot about her subject and nobody outworks her."

Rod Bluechel, the vice president of the Columbia Basin Veterans Coalition in Washington state, said Murray took heat for voting against the Iraq war at a time when most politicians supported it, but that her opposition proved to be "spot-on."

"That's why I kinda like her, because she kinda stands for what she wants," Bluechel said. "And I admire that in people. ... She stands in good shoes."

When Murray voted against the war, she called the action "an ill-defined solo mission" and said too many questions about the conflict were unanswered.

"I understand the consequences of war, and I don't shrink from them," she said. "My father was among the first to land on Okinawa as a GI. Growing up, we always knew that our country may need to project force to defend our freedoms."

In an interview, Murray recalled her father, who had multiple sclerosis.

"He never complained," she said. "He was like so many World War II veterans. He did service for his country. When he came back, he raised a family, he did his job, he did so many things. That wasn't how he defined his life, but it certainly had a huge impact on his life. And I think being his daughter and growing up, I real-

Murray, who was first elected to the Senate in 1992 and now is its fourth-highest-ranking Democrat, said she developed a passion for serving veterans shortly after she

No more shall the war cry sever,
 Or the winding rivers be red;
 They banish our anger forever
 When they laurel the graves of our dead!

Under the sod and the dew,
 Waiting the judgment-day,
 Love and tears for the Blue,
 Tears and love for the Gray.

from The Blue And The Gray
 Francis Miles Finch (1827-1907)

It's tragic when American Patriots fight with each other—it's even more tragic when one of the Patriots has forgotten what their Patriotism is for—when they pursue money and power over their brother's well-being.

Will it all matter once we're gone? It won't if there isn't a lasting legacy that we leave behind for those who follow after...
